What is the "Holodomor?"

Assistant

The Holodomor refers to a man-made famine that occurred in Soviet Ukraine from 1932 to 1933. It was a result of Stalin's forced collectivization policies, grain requisition quotas, and restrictions on population movement, leading to mass starvation and millions of deaths. Many historians and nations recognize it as an intentional act of genocide against the Ukrainian people, aimed at crushing Ukrainian nationalism and resistance to Soviet rule.
